7.2 ACGC & Personal Development Content (document attached)

Mr. Rebelo presents the document. Although the format appears different, the content remains the same.

The new component is the second section of the document. East Hill has been implementing this initiative for the past five years. This section focuses on topics the school wishes to address beyond the formal curriculum, particularly in areas related to students' personal and social development that are not fully covered within the standard curriculum.

It was noted that the Ministry has recently identified a total of 12 topics to be addressed.

Mr. Mallozzi asks how we can know which topics will be addresses. Mr Rebelo mentions that teachers will provide a detailed plan outlining the specific content for grades 5 and 6.

Tabled to address at the end of the present meeting.

8. Reports

8.1 Commissioner

Mr. Mercuri extended wishes for a healthy and successful New Year.

He recalled that at the last meeting on December 9, the Council recognized Jimmy Fernandez, a student from Royal Vale, who had lost his father.

The Council also honored Mr. Sousa from Pierre-de-Coubertin as student of the month, who has been diagnosed with leukemia. Mr. Sousa has remained connected with teachers despite not attending school.

The Council adopted a motion to allocate space in Pearson for the AVS program in carpentry.

Calendars have been distributed to teachers for consultation and input from other committees.

The Council discussed the election of representatives on CGTSIM: updates regarding governance changes were noted, including the potential impact on budgets and a change in the chairman position.

It was noted that the government has not fully followed recent court decisions affecting these matters.

8.2 Chairperson

- Nothing to report given her absence at the meeting.

8.3 Principal

Ms. Barrafato reported that the recent Open House was successful, and expressed hope that it will lead to new student registrations.

The visit from Symphonic Winds was appreciated by students and staff.

The December 19 Breakfast with Santa was acknowledged, with thanks extended to
